Additional sockets throughout the house. 10 / 10
 I got several quotes from different electricians before having any work done, whilst Assured Electrical were not the cheapest (average price); they felt not only the most trust worthy but also the most genuine. The work did over-run from Thursday and Friday onto the Saturday morning, and the workload did increase when part of the wall was knocked through into the kitchen (loose plaster where the wall had previously been repaired). However they not only cleared up the mess, they fixed the problem and charged the originally quoted price. Overall I would recommend them any day as I was impressed and would definitely use again in the future. Customer in Woking, 23 March 2012
