UPVC door and side panel 9.5 / 10

Most competitive quote. Door appears very sturdy and well finished. Fitting was excellent. Neat and precise use of edging strips to give a seamless integrated appearance to adjacent exterior wood panelling. Fitter was very obliging. When he had finished I noticed that he had refitted an alarm sensor in the same position as the old door. I wanted it in a different position. He changed it, took of the trim that now had a few small cable-clip pinholes in it and put new trim back. No moans or groans. Did the work and left me suprisingly satisfied. Although the fitter cleared the site and tidied up in general, I marked him down because he missed some rubbish. More importantly he had taken down a curtain from the old door and left the fitting bar with protruding screws on a piece of furniture. No lasting damage done. I was very happy with the whole job. I point out the negative, in case you want to keep a closer watch on the job as it is being done.
