Checked Solar system and unvented cylinder, recharged pressure vessels for them, traced fault to kerbside stop-cock 10 / 10
 We heard water running for months - and thought it was a fault with our solar panels. G.D. Gas and Heating advertised that they were familiar with the system we had so we called them. They attended the next day, serviced the solar system and traced the fault (constant sound of running water) to the outside stop cock, and advised I ring Portsmouth Water. Portsmouth water attended today and replaced the faulty stop-cock (no expense to ourselves). So two birds killed with one stone - Solar panel and cylinder serviced, and leaking stop cock identified and repaired. Customer in Southsea, 17 February 2012
