Have used Norvett before and found them to be extremely professional. We had a problem with faulty dimmer switches (component supplier problem). Norvett replaced the faulty dimmer switches with no fuss and at no charge to us. Thoroughly recommend this firm Customer in Seaford, 15 June 2011

I had been looking for a competent firm of electricians for some time and Norvett were recommended to me by someone who had used them previously.

My initial enquiry was dealt with very efficiently and work was completed in two stages (one day each) - the testing of the system and new distribution board first and then the other remedial work etc on a later date at a cost previously quoted and agreed.

The work was carried out by staff with an understanding of the fact that were working in someone's house and they worked in a tidy, efficient and methodical way causing the minimum possible disruption.

We are very pleased with the work they have done and would unhesitatingly recommend them to anyone looking for a competent firm of electricians. Customer in Eastbourne, 28 September 2010
