Full Stripping and Replastering of Two Rooms

10 / 10

This was a fairly large job with two rooms (walls and ceilings) being completely stripped back of all the existing plaster to the brickwork and laths removed, new plasterboard fitted and a topcoat of plaster applied. Simon was a pleasure to have around the house to do the work - he was very friendly and professional, right through from providing an initial written inclusive quote (so no surprises at a later date), tidying up each day, keeping me informed as to how he was getting on etc. Importantly, the work has been performed to an incredibly high standard - the walls and ceilings are as smooth and flat as could be possible. I'd be more than happy to provide a personal recommendation for both Simon and his work. Mark Customer in London, 15 May 2012

I was very impressed by the high standard and quality of Simon's work. He is exceptionally professional and courteous and it was a pleasure to have him to do this work for me. He explained what he was doing every step of the way and was thorough about everything he did. His plastering is excellent. He showed enormous care about keeping my home clean and tidied up perfectly after he had finished. It is obvious that Simon takes a great pride in doing a good job. I would recommend him wholeheartedly. Customer in London, 28 February 2012
