Strip out and refurbishment of bathroom including cladding walls and fitting new doors in remainder of property 10 / 10

Tim went the extra mile and we were confident that we had chosen well. Tim worked with us and was able to interpret our ideas into reality often suggesting minor improvements, a delight to have in our home and we will use him again.

Re-model of bathroom and re-siting of door and associated work. 10 / 10

This job was 'phase three' of a remodelling job on my new home. The bathroom door was originally sited in completely the wrong place and far too close to the living room, so I contacted Tim to ask about moving the door. Re-siting the door wasn't quite so 'cut and dried' as it might sound because my bathroom is the size of a postage stamp and a very odd shape. However - Tim created what feels like a whole new bathroom for me. He helped me with choosing a new bathroom sink and loo, and understood when I said I wanted to keep the original shower as I liked it so much. He arranged for all the electrical and plumbing work to be done so that tradesmen arrived at the right time within the job. Tim suggested new over-head lighting and recommended the addition of an extractor fan/light combination, sited in the ceiling over the shower (which I now recommend to others because it's brilliant!). Re-plastering of the walls and ceilings followed, as did hanging the new door and the building the framework for it. He re-built the wall where the door had originally been and you would never know that there had been a door there in the first place now. Tim then added tongue and groove panelling to half of the walls so that it gave the bathroom a more vintage/cottagey feel to it. He very kindly hung wall fittings (mirror; bathroom cabinet; towel rail) - and finally, he boarded the floor in readiness for the fitters to come and lay vinyl flooring. I'm over-joyed with the resulting look. The finish is professional and so beautifully put together. There is nothing that Tim over-looked and it's this attention to detail which made so much difference to the finished look. All in all I'm thrilled to pieces. I would HIGHLY recommend Tim. I'm so impressed by his work and professionalism that I've already asked him to quote me on some more work, the result of which is that I've accepted his quote and he's coming back to do some more work on another area of the... Customer in Poole, 20 March 2012

Re-modelling and decoration of Living Room and Hallway

10 / 10

This particular job was a part of a whole re-modelling of new home. Tim works miracles! He removed laminate flooring which had been firmly fixed to the whole of one wall (by a previous owner) in my new home, - which wasn't an easy job at all! He made good the wall - rebuilding part of it - and making it ready to decorate. Then came the removal of thickly patterned artex ceiling and re-plastering of same. Tim arranged for an electrician to re-site some electrical sockets and install some more over-head lighting, and he then went on to attach tongue and groove panelling (wainscoting) to turn what was a modern looking room, into a more cottage feeling room. Nothing fazed him what-so-ever, and the final result was far better than I could have imagined. His attention to detail is incredible, and he will not settle for anything less than an excellent job. I cannot praise this man highly enough, and recommend him for all aspects of work. If another tradesman/woman is needed to do something which Tim doesn't do himself (Gas or Electrical work), he oversees any work done by others and ensures that the finished result is as he expects it to be, and as you hope. Customer in Poole, 16 March 2012

Kitchen Re-modelling

10 / 10

Tim is one of the nicest chaps you're ever likely to come across in this trade. He's conscientious and worked very hard with me to try and come up with the idea's I had for remodelling a kitchen which I'd inherited when I bought my new home. The kitchen was a total nightmare - and although I knew some of the things which I wanted in my 'new look' kitchen - there were other things which I had absolutely no clue what to do about. This is where Tim came into his own. He came up with ideas and thoughts which I took on-board and then 'tinkered' with a little and asked him if he could achieve. He did ... every single time! He didn't even bat an eyelid when I suddenly came up with something which I'd completely forgotten about (a plate rack) until the re-modelling was almost finished. When the kitchen was finished - I was so over-joyed with how it looked I launched myself at him and hugged the heck out of him! I'm absolutely 100% thrilled to bits and pieces with what he's done. I'd employ him again in a heart beat. Brilliant chap and all round good egg! Customer in Poole, 12 March 2012
