Leak in bathroom 4.33 / 10

He was totally incapable of finding where the leak was coming from Customer in Bromley, 6 July 2017

Reply from Trader:I was called out in regards to water coming through ceiling. Advised customer as ceiling damaged and water logged best to remove and investigate, gave quote to carry the initial stage out and quote accepted, carried out this work and found shower tray not installed correctly and joists soaking, advised customer to let joists dry out call insurance company to proceed, invoiced for the work carried out as per quote and customer did not want to pay for the work I had carried out even though it was as I had set out in writing. I eventually received payment after seeking advice to seek payment through the court system.
